

Survival Bivvy-E-Bivvy

Protect your number one investment-you and your family.

The Moroka.30 Emergency Bivvy has been designed specifically for hunters who continually put themselves in tough country and remote locations where the even slightest injury has the potential for many hours waiting helplessly for assistance, often in freezing cold and wet conditions. A fall, sprain, break, laceration, dehydration or snakebite can result in immobility and the onset of shock and hyperthermia.

Conventional survival blankets fall short of true insulated protection due to their limited size and can easily deteriorate over time .

The E-bivvy allows the wearer to be fully enclosed and dry and also get relief from the wind and trap and reflect crucial body heat inside a seamsealed bag. Also doubles as a great lightweight groundsheet for underneath bivvy's, sleeping bags and sleeping mats for added thermal protection. Super compact and lightweight it is a valuable addition to any hunters daypack for confidence and peace of mind. Proudly Australian made and also available in custom sizes should our standard size not suit, for more information please contact us.
